ASYLUM is a special legal protection that lets people stay in the United States when they are afraid of going back to their home country.

Meet Krystal and Zack. They are scared to return to their home country. Zack and Krystal's stories are only examples. Your stories do not have to be the same as theirs to get protection. But their stories can help show you how to apply for asylum in the United States.

Krystal is a young woman who is afraid to return to her home country because she was in a bad relationship with her husband there. Her husband beat her and hurt her. Even though she reported her husband to the police in her home country, the police did not help her.

Zack is a young man who is afraid to return to his home country because his family was threatened by gangs there. The gangs tried to recruit his older brother who refused to join them. The gang then threatened to kill Zack and his entire family.

This guide will explain all the steps Krystal and Zack go through as they seek protection in the United States. You can take the same steps. Here's what those will be:

- | | |
|---|----|
| Step 1: Going to Immigration Court | 3 |
| Step 2: Turning in Your Asylum Form | 5 |
| Step 3: Applying for a Work Permit | 7 |
| Step 4: What to Do While You Are Waiting for Your Individual Hearing | 8 |
| Step 5: Going to An Individual Hearing | 16 |
| Step 6: After a Decision Has Been Made | 21 |

You should turn in your asylum application as soon as possible. The application has to be filled out in English (you can ask a friend/family member to translate it for you). If you have not filled out the application, please download and print it from www.uscis.gov/i-589 or pick up a copy at the Sacramento Immigration Court.

Going to Immigration Court

The first few times that you go to immigration court, the Judge will ask you some basic questions about your name and address.

Make sure you go to all of your hearings. The Judge can order that you be deported if you miss a court date.

Your first few hearings are called Master Calendar Hearings. You will be in the courtroom with many other people. You will only have to talk to the Judge for a few minutes at these hearings but you must attend any scheduled hearings to have a chance to apply for asylum and remain in the United States.

DO I NEED AN ATTORNEY?

The Judge will probably ask you to try and find an attorney. There might be a volunteer attorney in Court to help you just for the day of the hearing. These volunteer attorneys are just helping for the day. Try your best to find an attorney after the hearing. If you cannot find an attorney, you can still ask the Judge for protection by yourself and represent yourself during your court proceedings. Having an attorney would be ideal, but it is NOT a requirement to apply for asylum. This manual will help you apply for protection even if you don't find an attorney.

SHOULD I ASK FOR MORE TIME TO FIND AN ATTORNEY?

Finding an attorney can help you win your case, but asking for more time might mean that you have to wait longer to get a work permit. Sometimes asking for more time means that you may not get a work permit until your case is over.

WHAT SHOULD I SAY AT THE HEARING?

If you don't know the answer to a question, it is fine to say that you don't know.

If you ask for more time to find an attorney and still can't find one in time for your next court date, you can ask for more time during the next Master Calendar Hearing. You can take with you a list of the attorneys/organizations you have called and what they said to you. This can show the judge that you are doing everything you can to find an attorney.

It is important that you still go to Court. Then, keep looking for an attorney after your hearing.

You have until your Individual Hearing to find an attorney.

If you do not find an attorney, you still have the right to present your case to the immigration judge.

Turning in Your Asylum Form

If you have not turned in your form, you should do it as soon as possible. If you have already turned in your form, you can skip this and go to page 7.

WHAT TO DO WITH YOUR ORIGINAL FORM AND THE THREE COPIES:

THE ORIGINAL FORM

Turn in the original application to the window on the 4th floor of the Immigration Court building in Sacramento. Ask the clerk to stamp the rest of the copies.

COPY #1

Give one copy of your asylum form to the same person at that window on the 4th floor so that they can stamp it and give it back to you. This is your copy. Take this copy to all of your hearings.

Keep the stamped copy.

COPY #2

Put your second copy in an envelope. Put a postage stamp on the envelope. Mail the envelope "Certified" to:

Office of the Principal Legal Advisor,
P.O. Box 26449, San Francisco, Ca 94126-6449.

COPY #3

Put the first 3 pages of your third copy in an envelope. Included in the envelope should be:

- 1) The letter on page 28 in this guide that you should fill out with your information (Place on top);
- 2) Copy the first 3 pages of of your asylum application; and
- 3) The document found on page 25 of this manual, called "Instructions for Submitting Certain Applications in Immigration Court and for Providing Biometric and Biographic Information to USCIS".

Mail the envelope to USCIS Nebraska Service Center, Defensive Asylum Application With Immigration Court, P.O. Box 87589, Lincoln, NE 68501-7589.

The reason that you have to mail this copy is because anyone who is asking for asylum needs to get their fingerprints taken. A few months after putting Copy #3 in the mail, you should receive an appointment letter with a date for you to get your fingerprints taken.
Make sure you attend this appointment and take a form of identification!

You can request an appointment to have your fingerprints taken even if you have not submitted your asylum application to the court (the stamped copy is not a requirement). This applies ONLY to this step.

Applying for a Work Permit

You can apply for a work permit 150 days after the day that you turned in your asylum application to the Court.

To check how many days have passed since you turned in your asylum application, call 1-800-898-7180. You will be asked to enter your A-number, which is a 9 digit ID number that you can find on your Notice to Appear or most other immigration documents. Select option “2” to find out how many days have passed.

If you call the phone number above and the number of days has not changed, it may be because the Court extended your waiting period.

FINS: 4567890123
DOB: 03/14/1990
In the Matter of:

This is where you can find your A-Number.

Once the 150 day waiting period has passed, here’s how you apply for a work permit:

1. Complete the work permit application (Form I-765), in black ink. The forms are available at www.uscis.gov/i-765.

2. Make photocopies of these papers:

- The first page of the asylum form that was stamped at the Court window (copy #1 from page 6).
- The letter from the court with the date of your next hearing.
- Your passport or some other government-issued identity document, like a birth certificate, I-94, or national identity document . The important thing is that the identification has a photo. If you don't have one, write a letter explaining why you do not have one. Remember that any document that you submit to the court has to be translated to English.

3. Find a place that takes passport style photos and get 2 passport photos of yourself (2 inches wide by 2 inchestall). You can get them at a Walgreen's, Rite Aid, Walmart, etc.

It is important to know that the Immigration Judge is not the one who decides who can get a work permit. USCIS, a different part of the government, will review your application and make a decision. Do NOT turn in your work permit application to the Judge.

4. Place the copies of the papers and the photos in an envelope. If using regular mail, mail the envelope to: USCIS Attn: I-765 C08

P.O. Box 650888,
Dallas, TX 75265-0888

If you use FedEx, UPS, or DHL send it to :
USCIS Attn: I-765 C08 (Box 650888)
2501 S. State Hwy. 121 BusinessSuite 400
Lewisville, TX 75067-8003

- After a few weeks after mailing your work permit application, you should receive a notice called “I-797 Notice of Action, Receipt Notice.” This means that your application was received.
- A few months after mailing your work permit application, you should receive an appointment letter with a date for you to get your fingerprints taken. Make sure you attend this appointment!

It usually takes a few months for a work permit to be issued. The government will send you a letter to let you know if your application has been approved.

What to Do While You Are Waiting for Your Individual Hearing

You will probably have to wait various months or years after your last master calendar hearing until your individual hearing.

WHAT IS YOUR INDIVIDUAL HEARING?

The Court will only decide whether to grant you asylum after giving you an individual opportunity to tell your story in a private hearing — called an “individual calendar hearing.”

Here are some other things you can do to prepare for your individual hearing:

1. Write down your story so that you can tell it to the Judge.

The next few pages will give you some examples of stories that people tell the Judge. This will help you write down your own story and explain to the judge what happened to you and why you fear returning to your country.

It is normal to be nervous for this hearing. The most important thing is to tell the truth. Remember: you are the one who knows your story the best.

Zack

Krystal

A young Christian man, who was attacked by gang members while he was handing out church pamphlets

- Who hurt you? Members of MS-13, a powerful gang in my country threatened to hurt me and my family.
- What are some of the things they did to hurt you? They tried to recruit my brother, and when he said no, they sent us death threats. They showed him a picture of my mother dropping off my sister at school and said they'd kill them if he didn't join.
- Are you afraid of people hurting you in the future? Yes, we know that once gangs start coming for someone in a family, everybody is at risk.
- What are you afraid those people would do to you? If my brother turns the gang down, I am afraid that they will kill all of my family, including myself.
- Why do you think they might hurt you? They want to hurt us because we are my brother's family.
- Why couldn't the police help you? The police are scared of the gang, and many of them are corrupt.
- Why wouldn't you have been safe somewhere else in your home country? MS-13 has caught and killed other people who tried to run to another city.

- Who hurt you? My husband.
- What are some of the things they did to hurt you? My husband got drunk and hit me very frequently. He threatened to kill me if I ever left. Once, he threw me against a wall so hard he broke my arm.
- Are you afraid of people hurting you in the future? Yes, I'm afraid my husband will hurt me if I return.
- What are you afraid those people would do to you? I am afraid that he will beat me or worse.
- Why do you think they hurt you? My husband used to say he could do whatever he wanted to me because I was his wife, and I belonged to him.
- Why couldn't the police help you? After my husband broke my arm, I went to the police and I asked for help, but they never did anything. That's when I knew I had to leave.
- Why wouldn't you be safe somewhere else in your home country? My husband said he'd find me wherever I went. I once tried to run away to my sister's home in another village, and he came there and took me back.

- Who hurt you? Los Caballeros, a powerful cartel in my part of the country.
- What are some of the things they did to hurt you? I was handing out pamphlets telling people when worship services were at my church. Members of the Caballeros grabbed me, punched me, and threw my pamphlets in the sewer.
- Are you afraid of people hurting you in the future? Yes, the cartel.
- What are you afraid those people would do to you? I'm afraid the cartel will physically attack me or worse.
- Why do you think they hurt you? The cartels don't want people going to church, especially young men my age, because then they won't join the cartel.
- Why couldn't the police help you? The police are all in the pockets of the cartels. The few that aren't already working with the cartels are scared of them too. They told me to stop making trouble.
- Why wouldn't you be safe somewhere else in your home country? The cartels in other parts of the country hate church too, and I refuse to stop practicing my faith.

A woman who received death threats from the police because she refused to pay a bribe	A gay man who is called names because of how he dresses	An indigenous woman who was sexually assaulted by a non-indigenous man in her village
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Who hurt you? A policeman. • What are some of the things they did to hurt you? He came to my house and told me I had to pay a “tax” for my protection. I told him I didn’t think that was right. That night, he came back and put a gun to my head, and said if I knew what was good for me I’d pay him. • Are you afraid of being hurt in the future? Yes, I am afraid of the police. • What do you fear might happen if you return? I am afraid the police might beat me or worse. • Why do you think they hurt you? I think it’s wrong that the police are so corrupt, and I didn’t want to participate. • Why couldn’t the police help you? A policeman hurt me, and he said he had friends high up in the police force who would protect him. • Why wouldn’t you be safe somewhere else in your home country? I was afraid the policeman’s friends would find and punish me wherever I went. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Who hurt you? No one has physically hurt me yet, but I have been verbally harassed. • What are some of the things they did to hurt you? They have harassed me, insulted me, and called me names. • Are you afraid of people hurting you in the future? Yes. Other gay men in my home country have been insulted and beaten. I have a friend who was beaten so badly that he was in the hospital for a month. And people sometimes yell slurs at me when they see me out at night. • What are you afraid those people would do to you? I am afraid they will verbally insult me and physically attack me like those other gay men. • Why do you think they might hurt you? The men who yell at me say things like “You’re not a real man.” People think that people like me are gross and wrong. • Why couldn’t the police help you? The police hate people like me. They would never have helped me. • Why wouldn’t you be safe somewhere else in your home country? Homophobia is everywhere in my country, and I wouldn’t feel safe anywhere. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Who hurt you? The man was a stranger. • What are some of the things they did to hurt you? He sexually assaulted me twice. I know it was him because he said he was glad to see me again. The first time, he just grabbed me when he saw me alone on the way to the market, and I screamed and ran. The second time, he showed up to my house with a knife, and forced me to have sex with him. • Are you afraid of people hurting you in the future? Yes, I am afraid of the stranger. • What are you afraid those people would do to you? I am afraid he may sexually assault me again. • Why do you think they hurt you? The man said no one would care what he did to me, because I speak Mam. • Why couldn’t the police help you? The police don’t take sex crimes seriously. • Why wouldn’t you be safe somewhere else in your home country? I don’t speak Spanish very well, and I worry people would mistreat me just as badly in other parts of the country.

The Judge wants to hear why YOU are afraid to return to your home country. We suggest writing down your story. If it is helpful, you can read this piece of paper at your individual hearing.

2. Do your best to find PEOPLE and DOCUMENTS that can support your story.

You should begin looking for PEOPLE and DOCUMENTS that can support your story a few months before your hearing.

PEOPLE: If other people know about what happened to you, they can help support your story.

Krystal has told her mother about the times that her husband has beaten her. She also went to her sister's house to hide from her husband, but he found her there and made her return home. Krystal can ask her mother and her sister to write letters describing what they know about Krystal's story.

Who knows about what happened to you? Write down a list of people who know your story. We recommend that you choose people who you are comfortable asking to write a letter for you. The letters should be translated into English.

What if no one else knows what happened to me?

Your own story, by itself, can still be enough. But the more people you can get to write letters for you, the better. Legal status is not required for someone to write a letter of support.

They should sign and date the letters. If possible, they should either get the letters notarized or you should ask them for a copy of their identification (passport, cedula, driver's license, etc.). You can include the copy of their ID with their letter. All of these documents/evidence have to be translated into English.

Supporting Evidence: Do your best to find LETTERS and other documents that can support your story.

Any documents that help tell or support part of your story can be helpful. Let's look at Zack and Krystal's examples below.

Zack's brother has received threatening text messages from gang members. The newspaper in Zack's home town has recently published an article about how powerful the gangs are. Zack can use a picture of the text messages and the newspaper article to support his story.

Krystal once reported her husband to the police. The police wrote a report but didn't do anything to help her. Krystal also went to the hospital once when her husband beat her so badly that he broke her arm.

Krystal can use both the police report and her medical records from the hospital to support her story.

What papers do you have to support your story? You can use this checklist to think about the letters and other papers you can use for your case.

- Police reports
- Medical records
- Picture of text messages or emails or messages from Facebook or Whatsapp
- Letters
- Newspaper articles
- Other: _____

What if I don't have any papers like these to support my story?

Your own story, by itself, can still be enough. But the more papers you can gather, the better.

Start collecting these papers a few months before the date of your Individual Hearing so that you can give them to the Judge before your hearing.

3. Think about if there are people who know your story and can come to Court to talk to the Judge.

For example, Krystal's sister knows about what happened to Krystal.

Krystal can bring her sister to talk to the Judge about what happened to her.

Who should you bring to Court to act as a witness?

- Does the person know about what happened to you?
- Do you trust this person to tell the truth about what happened to you?
- Can the person come with you to Sacramento Immigration Court?
- Does the person have legal immigration status?
 1. Does the person have legal immigration status? If not, they should NOT come to Court without consulting with an attorney.
 2. Does the person have their own immigration case? If so, they can come to your hearing even if they don't have legal immigration status. However, anything they say at Court might be mentioned at their hearing too.

If the person that you want to bring to court with you has their own immigration case, they should consult with their lawyers first. If they do not have a lawyer, make sure that they are aware that anything they say in your hearing might be mentioned at their hearing too.

4. Give all of your Supporting Evidence (letters and other documents) to the Court 15 DAYS before your Individual Hearing

Here's how you give your letters and other papers to the Court:

- Gather all of your letters and documents together and create a packet.
- Take all of the documents that are not in English to get them translated into English.
- The person translating the documents must include a certificate of translation- see the last page of this packet.
- Take page 27 out of this manual, fill in the blank spaces, and put it on top of your packet.
- Take page 28 out of this manual, fill in the blank spaces, and put it at the very end of your packet.
- Take your supporting evidence and make two copies of the packet. Staple each group together. Now you have three packets of paper—the original and two copies. You will do something different with each group.

Original Stack

Give original stack to the same person at the 4th Floor window of the Sacramento Immigration Court at 650 Capitol Mall, Suite 4-200, Sacramento, Ca 95814. and ask them to stamp it. Keep this copy for your own records.

Copy #1

Take your copy #1 of evidence and documents to the Immigration Court. You should take it to the 4th Floor window and give it to the person at the window. The court will keep this copy. Make sure the court does not keep your original documents, such as birth certificate, etc.

COPY #2

Put your second copy in an envelope. Take it to the United States Postal Service and ask that it be mailed "Certified." Keep the tracking number.

Mail the envelope to:

Office of the Principal Legal Advisor

P.O Box 26449, San Francisco, Ca 94126- 6449

You should try and complete these steps as soon as possible.

Generally, the deadline to submit evidence/documents to the court is 15 days before your individual hearing (please verify this with your judge).

If you mail it, it has to arrive at the court 15 days before your individual hearing (this includes weekends), so make sure you mail them with enough time.

Going to Your Individual Hearing

Your individual hearing will be very different from your other hearings. It will be longer, so you should make plans to be free the entire morning or afternoon near your scheduled hearing time.

At this hearing, the Judge and government attorney will ask you questions and you will get your chance to tell the Judge who you are afraid of, why you are afraid to go back to your home country, and why you don't think you could be safe living in another part of your home country.

You can bring an attorney to your individual hearing even if you haven't used one before! You can hire an attorney at any time, but the more time you have working with the attorney before your individual hearing the better.

HELPFUL REMINDERS ABOUT YOUR INDIVIDUAL HEARING:

- Your individual hearing is private and confidential.
- If you can, wear something nice to Court to show the Judge that you understand that your hearing is a serious occasion.
- If your children are included in your case, you must bring them unless the Judge says that they don't have to come. If your children are not included in your case, you can bring your children, but you don't have to unless the Judge says so.
- It is a sign of respect to the Judge to stand up whenever the Judge stands up. For example, when she walks into the courtroom, you should stand. Once the Judge takes her seat, you may also sit down.

The next pages will help you know what to expect at your individual hearing.

STEP-BY-STEP DESCRIPTION OF WHAT HAPPENS AT YOUR INDIVIDUAL HEARING:

-1. Arrive at immigration court and find your courtroom.

Sacramento Immigration Court located on the 4th floor at:
650 Capitol Mall, Suite 4-200, Sacramento, Ca 95814.

What to take with you to your court hearing:

- Court hearing notice.
- A copy of your I-589.
- Original packet of evidence.

2. Wait while the Judge takes care of a few tasks.

Here are some things that might happen at the beginning of the hearing:

1. The Judge might talk to the government attorneys about the case.
This part is often in English and not translated. When the Judge is ready to talk to you, she will talk to you directly and use the translator.
2. Near the beginning of the hearing, the Judge will ask you to promise that you will tell the truth at your hearing. You will stand up, raise your right hand and promise to tell the truth.

You MUST be in your actual courtroom at the time your hearing is scheduled. If you are not, the Judge might make a decision about your case without you having an opportunity to tell your story. Make sure to leave plenty of time for traffic, parking, and security.

3. Answer questions from the Judge and the government attorney.

Next, the Judge will ask you to tell your story, and will ask you questions about your story. This is your chance to tell the Judge about why you are afraid to return home and explain to her why you need protection in the United States.

If you wrote down your story on page 11, you can tell the Judge you'd like to start by reading your story out loud. After you read your story, the Judge and government attorney will ask you questions.

How to answer questions:

- If you start to feel nervous, it's ok to ask the interpreter to repeat the question, or to ask for a moment before answering the question.
- It's ok if you can't remember the exact details about your story. Say that you can't remember.
- If you don't know the answer to a question, it is okay to say that you don't know.

If you do not speak English, the Judge will provide you with an interpreter. If you do not understand the interpreter, you should tell the Judge this as quickly as possible.

This is a chart that you can use to prepare for the questions. Your story might not fit perfectly into the chart, and that's ok. But you should be prepared to talk about the parts of your story that fit into this chart with the Judge and the government attorney.

They roughed him up a little bit, but we really were scared of what they would do if he turned them down.
Are you afraid of people hurting you in the future? What are you afraid those people might do to you?	Yes. My husband frequently threatened to kill me if I ever left him. I am afraid that he will kill me if I return.	Yes. Members of MS-13 tried to recruit my brother, and told him he had to sell drugs in his school. They said they knew who his mother, father, and brother were. We know that once gangs start coming after someone in a family, everybody is at risk, and that if my brother turned them down, they would kill us all.
Why did these people hurt you?	My husband said he could do whatever he wanted to me because I was his wife, I was his property, and he owned me.	Gang members told my brother that they'd have to make an example of him he didn't fall in line. And I know they targeted my brother because he was a young man who wasn't yet in a gang.
Did the police help you? If not, why didn't they help?	The police don't take claims of family violence seriously. I asked them for help, but they never opened a file or did any investigation. I have a friend that did get a restraining order, but the paper didn't mean anything and her partner kept hitting her.	We did not go to the police because it is common knowledge that the police are scared of the gangs too, and many of them are corrupt.
Why can't you move to another part of your country to avoid danger?	My husband said he'd find me wherever I went. I once tried to run away to my sister's home in another village, and he came there and took me back.	The gangs are everywhere in my country. Two boys I went to school with tried to run away to another city when MS-13 came after him, and the gang found them and killed them.

4. If you brought people to the hearing to help tell your story, the Judge and government attorney will ask them questions.

It is common for the Judge to ask any people that you brought to wait outside of the courtroom until it is their turn to talk.

Do not worry if you are nervous.

It's normal to be nervous about answering questions in Court. Remember, you know your story better than anyone. The most important thing you can do is tell the truth.

The judge knows that some of the things you might have to talk about at your hearing are difficult or painful. If you get emotional during your hearing, it is always ok to ask for a break so that you can compose yourself, get water, or even tissues.

5. After the Judge is done asking you questions, you must wait for the Judge's decision.

The Judge might make a decision about your case at the end of this hearing. If this happens, she will tell you her decision that very same day before you leave the courtroom.

It is also normal for judges to make a decision in writing several days or weeks after your hearing. If this happens, you will receive a letter in the mail that tells you what the Judge has decided.

You cannot be deported while you are waiting for the Judge's decision.

Next Steps After Your Hearing

If the Judge decides that you can stay in the United States, then congratulations! The Judge will give you a form with instructions on it and will describe to you what you should do next.

You will be able to apply for a work permit and Form I-94 which will be proof that you have asylum. One year after being granted asylum, you will be able to apply for a green card.

If you are granted asylum, some of your family members, like your legal spouse or your children, may also get the same protections. If you think that this applies to you, you should contact an immigration attorney.

WHAT SHOULD I DO IF THE JUDGE DECIDES NOT TO GIVE ME ASYLUM?

If you disagree with a Judge's decision, you have the right to ask for it to be changed. This is called an appeal. The Judge will give you the form and instructions that you need to follow if you want to appeal.

Fill out the form and mail it to the address listed on the form within 30 days of the Judge's decision.

If you did not win your case and you want to talk about continuing to fight your case, you should contact an immigration attorney.

If the Judge decides that you cannot stay in the United States, you can decide to appeal her decision.

As long as your case is on appeal, you CANNOT be deported.

Forms for You to Use

Some of the steps in the process of getting protection require filling out and using special government forms — for example, a work permit application.

If you're at a step in the process where you need to use one of those forms, you can get it here. If you're not at one of these steps, then there isn't anything you need to do with these papers right now.
